

“How Ideas Become Laws”

- (1st) Copy the definition,
(2nd) sample sentence and
(3rd) make your own sample sentence)

1. speculation Speculation is ideas or discussion about why something has happened or might happen.
Cloudy skies lead to speculation over the chance of rain.
2. aspiring When you are aspiring to reach a goal, you are seeking to accomplish it.
At the tryouts, we heard many singers who were aspiring to perform in our school talent show.
3. foundation A foundation is the basis on which something is developed.
Learning to dribble the ball is a good foundation for playing basketball.
4. preceded Something that came before something else preceded it.
The grand marshal's float preceded the rest of the parade.
5. principal The principal part of something is the most important part.
The principal ingredients of an omelet are eggs.
6. promote When you promote an idea, you help it grow or progress.
Many zoos today promote the idea of animal conservation.
7. restrict If you restrict something, you limit or confine it.
Using a leash can help restrict a dog's movements.
8. withstood To have withstood something is to have resisted or held out against it.
The lighthouse withstood the hurricane's force.

“How Ideas Become Laws”

- (1st) Copy the definition,
(2nd) sample sentence and
(3rd) make your own sample sentence)

1. speculation Speculation is ideas or discussion about why something has happened or might happen.
Cloudy skies lead to speculation over the chance of rain.
2. aspiring When you are aspiring to reach a goal, you are seeking to accomplish it.
At the tryouts, we heard many singers who were aspiring to perform in our school talent show.
3. foundation A foundation is the basis on which something is developed.
Learning to dribble the ball is a good foundation for playing basketball.
4. preceded Something that came before something else preceded it.
The grand marshal's float preceded the rest of the parade.
5. principal The principal part of something is the most important part.
The principal ingredients of an omelet are eggs.
6. promote When you promote an idea, you help it grow or progress.
Many zoos today promote the idea of animal conservation.
7. restrict If you restrict something, you limit or confine it.
Using a leash can help restrict a dog's movements.
8. withstood To have withstood something is to have resisted or held out against it.
The lighthouse withstood the hurricane's force.